DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371© of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Claims 37, and 39-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hayashi et al. (US 6,265,738).

Baum et al. discloses a capacitor structure comprising: a continuous smooth bottom electrode (410, a first electrode) of Pt; a capacitor dielectric (420) formed on the bottom electrode; a continuous smooth upper electrode (422) of Pt formed on the capacitor dielectric layer. See Hayashi et al.'s Fig.4 and col.7 lines 46-60 and col.8 lines 4-6.

Claims 37, and 39-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Woo et al. (US 6,054,331).

Art Unit: 2811

Woo et al. discloses a capacitor structure comprising: a continuous smooth bottom electrode (410, a first electrode) of Pt. See Woo et al.'s Fig.8C and col.12 lines 53-60.

Since Woo et al. teaches that the smooth Pt layer is a bottom electrode of a capacitor, therefore, the capacitor dielectric and upper electrode of capacitor are taken to be inherently taught by Woo et al.

The limitations "formed in the presence of both oxygen and nitrous oxide at a predetermined ratio with a combined flow rate in the range of about 1500 sccm to about 2500 sccm." in claim 37, "formed by depositing platinum in a CVD deposition chamber in the presence of both oxygen and nitrous oxide at a predetermined temperature and at a pressure of from about 10 to about 1000 Torr" in claim 41, "temperature is from about 250 ° C to about 300 ° C." in claim 42 and "pressure is from about 15 to about 30 Torr" in claim 43 are taken to be a product by process limitation, it is the patentability of the claimed product and not of recited process steps which must be established. Therefore, when the prior art discloses a product which reasonably appears to be identical with or only slightly different than the product claimed in a product-by process claim, a rejection based on sections 102 or 103 is fair. A product by process claim directed to the product per se, no matter how actually made, In re Hirao, 190 USPQ 15 at 17 (footnote 3). See In re Fessman, 180 USPQ 324,326(CCPA 1974); In re Marosi et al., 218 USPQ 289,292 (Fed. Cir. 1983); and particularly In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964,966 (Fed. Cir. 1985), all of which make it clear that it is the patentability of the final structure of the product “gleaned” from the process steps, which must be determined in a “product by process ” claim, and not the patentability of the process. See also MPEP 2113. Moreover, an old or obvious product produced by a new method is not a patentable product, whether claim in “product by process” claim or not.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2811

Claim 45 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hayashi et al. and Woo et al.

Hayashi et al. and Woo et al. teach all the limitation of claims 37, 39-44, however, Hayashi et al. and Woo et al. do not teach that the platinum layer having a thickness of about 500 angstroms.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to form the bottom Pt electrode having a thickness of about 500 angstroms as claimed because the thickness of the bottom electrode is an art recognized variable of importance which is subject to routine experimentation and optimization.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 37, 39-45 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
